Vpstart Crow Productions announces 2012-2013 Season

Vpstart Crow released its show selections for the next season. The final dates have yet to be determined in conjunction with the Hylton Performing Arts Center. The show dates will be published on Vpstart's web site once established.

- Fall 2012 – Late Sept to Early Oct.: Arsenic and Old Lace by Joseph Kesselring
- Holiday 2012 – Mid-December: A Christmas Carol adapted from a book by Charles Dickens
- Winter 2013 – Early March: Doubt, a Parable by John Patrick Shanley
- Spring 2013 – Mid-May: Much Ado About Nothing by William Shakespeare

Performances are staged in the Gregory Theatre of the Hylton Performing Arts Center on the George Mason University campus at Prince William. (www.hyltoncenter.org) The holiday show will have ten performances and the other shows will have seven performances. Each production includes a Pay-What-You-Can preview night.

Vpstart Crow's mission is to produce live theatre as a vital, accessible and exciting part of the life of our community. They are dedicated to breaking down the barriers between audience and actors in a performance style that is lively, thought-provoking and "vpstartling", which is defined as doing something unique and different.
